

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1905

DESIGN OF MERIDENIUM CONCRETE & IRONWORKS BRIDGE & STRUCTURES • ENGINEERING CONSULTING SERVICE

Thurs. Nov. 24, '83 - cold, dark, raining 11:50 AM Thanksgiving Day

had done my stretches with Richard Simmons was at sink washing Ref's tray — just say quiet — "the side by side (the Hand B) brothers are at naranjos — it must be 85 or 90" then I see Mario's body under a wild wash very close to running stream — I look at clock — it is 10:16 — then I see up close my Bequest and Jules and Faith and her little sister that married Jules — so like Olga — I know they are her two last children — Mario Jr. is there many many more — I think they are near the Lopez Mateos (can't bother to remember see name)

to Hauragan River
I see ^{in here} railroad where Mario is it's deep and steep — would hate to try climbing down — it is not nearly as wide as our barranca but is like after last flood when 10 yrs growth gone in hours — high, swift water has been here

(I can't write small)

only two days ago we looked at his picture — brothers in apple tree — Savage visiting, well B — he has left us a whole new breed of Bullocks who nest and eat and sing at peace with everyone else — the mighty influence of one good guy

DESIGNED BY MERIDENIUM CONCRETE & IRONWORKS BRIDGE & STRUCTURES • ENGINEERING CONSULTING SERVICE